GHI COMMITTEE TO STUDY TAA SURVEY

by Al Skolnik

At last Thursday's brief continuation meeting, Greenbelt Homes, Inc. general manager Roy Breashears expressed concern over the backlog of maintenance calls that were building up — "primarily in connection with capital improvement items." This was because the capital improvement program had been suspended for 1972, pending the conduct of the structural survey (TAA survey), he said. Some of these capital improvements can no longer be postponed, he said, and therefore the maintenance office has been swamped with calls.

Although he didn't say so, the implication was that the corporation should get going on whatever decisions it is going to make with respect to the recommendations of TAA. At Thursday's meeting, the board decided to appoint an ad-hoc committee whose sole purpose would be to evaluate the TAA survey. It hoped that members of this committee drawn from the membership would have some experience as architects, engineers, or journeymen in fields relating to housing construction and renovation. The ad-hoc committee would serve as technical liaison to the Planning Committee which has over-all responsibility for developing plans for the renovation of the structures.

The board approved the hiring of a professional assessor, Melville H. Peters, for consultation purposes in connection with the appeal GHI has filed with the county Appeals Board regarding the $3.7 million increase in GHI's property assessment. The assessed valuation of GHI before the increase was $7,840,590. A hearing date is scheduled for September 5.

The board received a request by an Eastway member that he be allowed to purchase the garage next to the garage he now owns for the purpose of converting both garages into bedrooms. After getting assurances that the conversion would not create parking problems in the area and that the neighbors approved, the board approved with Norman Weyel and Don Volk dissenting. Board policy had previously been against a member owning more than one garage.

Mobile Units were here on Friday, August 4, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. at the mall in the Center and took 379 X-rays and tested 204 people for diabetes. Five recipients of diabetes tests were told to seek further examination.

Volunteers to aid the Health Dept. were Mr. and Mrs. Tony Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. Don Kern, postmaster Emory Harman, and Jerry Wyncoop. The Lions Club is attempting to bring a Glaucoma Unit here through the Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Letter of Credit Extended

Alerted on August 20 by council woman Rhea Cohen that the $95,000 irrevocable letter of credit securing developer Alan Kay's agreement to reimburse the city for the purchase of 5 acres of open-space in connection with the Greenbriar project had expired, the city moved rapidly to have the developer extend the letter. By the end of business on Tuesday, August 22, the city had in its hands a new letter of credit for a six-month period for the same amount provided by Kay.

The original agreement between Kay and the city of Greenbelt was signed on August 9, 1971 and provided that it would go into effect when the developer obtains building permits authorizing construction of the luxury-type Greenbriar project pursuant to the special exceptions. To secure the payment of the moneys promised by the developer, the city was provided with an irrevocable letter of credit from United Virginia Bank for $95,000. The letter of credit was good for a year, subject to renewal.

Kay told the News Review that the letter of credit will be "renewed and extended for whatever time period is necessary." He said, "I intend to honor the agreement, which was not abrogated when the letter of credit expired."

QUEEN PAGEANT

An additional contestant has been added to the list of those previously mentioned for the 18th annual Queen Pageant of the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival.

Upon returning from a 3 week vacation, Miss Robin Corbin submitted her application and two letters of recommendation and will be sponsored by Greenbelt Homes, Inc.

Activities surrounding the preceding pageant, the contestants will commence on Saturday, August 26 to decorate their float for the Parade. This year's float is being financed by Sound Inc. of Beltway Plaza.

On Wednesday, August 30, all those participating in the Pageant and the co-chairmen with their husbands will dine at Emerson's, Ltd., with Mrs. Shirley Meredith, Chairman of the Queen Pageant and Mr. Meredith. Miss Beverly Goulart, Miss Greenbelt of 1971 will also attend as one of her remaining public appearances.

Parade Highlights

Two 93 year youngsters will be the Twin Parade Marshalls at the upcoming Labor Day Parade on Monday, September 4. Joe (Pop) Cipriano, who has lived in Greenbelt since 1910 and Jerry Goodin, a fixture in the Center area since the early 1940's will lead off the parade. The parade itself will follow a new route this year. The main reason for the change is that, in the past, the route was too long for the children's marching units.

The starting point this year will be at Hillside and Northway. The Parade will proceed up to Ridge (on Northway), turn right on Ridge, down Ridge to Gardenway, turn right on Gardenway and down to the Center.

New units recently added to the Parade are as follows: 1st U. S. Army Band, (leader of parade), 519 Military Police Drill Team, McLean Highlanders Drill Team, Colts and Filly 4-H Horse Unit Motor Corp., Junior Drum Corp of Admiral George D. Murry Youth Organization, Tip-Toppers of Washington, D.C. and Mr. Proudfoot's Md. State Guard Festival Group.

YES, There Will Be A Paper Pickup This Week

After a 2 month lapse, the city will be resuming the paper pickup this Friday, August 25, at 8:30 a.m.

Proposals for Better Living Given Council

A series of proposals dealing with environmental and "better living" matters was introduced by council member Rhea Cohen at the Monday, August 14, city council meeting. The major suggestions called for the city to investigate possibilities of getting aid or grants from various outside agencies to help improve the city's total environment. The council, never one to turn down financial assistance, readily agreed to having city manager James Giese investigate the possibilities and report back to council.

One of Mrs. Cohen's proposals called for the city to contact the Maryland Environmental Service regarding a grant for a solid waste recycling center and for aid in stopping oil pollution in Greenbelt Lake.

Another proposal asked for the city to contact the Maryland Department of Natural Resources for study funds and planning grants for bicycle and pedestrian overpasses across the major highways so as to join Greenbelt neighborhoods. Mrs. Cohen also thought that the U.S. and Maryland Departments of Transportation might have bicycle trail funds.

A third proposal will seek planning funds and grants for an in-city bus line. A representative of the Washington Suburban Transit Commission, Edgar Courtemach, advised that the city contact the Washington Council of Governments to determine what funds are available for demonstration projects and capital acquisitions. He indicated that all sorts of experiments are going on in this field, including arrangements of a limousine-type service which picks up people upon call.

Another suggestion was a request to the State Health Department Office of Air Quality Control for a mobile air pollution monitor to test the levels of air pollutants and carbon monoxide at the Beltway and Parkway interchanges and Kenilworth-Greenbelt intersection.

A final proposal, also accepted by council, called for the Community Relations Advisory Board to evaluate its ability to help tenants secure their rights and solve problems specific to rental housing, especially in light of new landlord-tenant legislation being proposed at the county level.

Caution

The Greenbelt Police Department cautions people, particularly children, not to go alone into isolated parts of the lake-park and other wooded areas. On Wednesday a 9-year old girl was grabbed by a man near the stream by the footbridge. He took her deeper into the woods, exposed himself, and then released her. She was unharmed.

The police are on the lookout for a white male adult between 25 and 30 years old, approximately 5'10" and weighing about 175 pounds. His hair is short, dark brown and wavy, and he is described as having a muscular build. At the time, he was wearing a buttoned down white short-sleeved shirt, dark color trousers and dress boots. Anyone having any information call 474-5454.

These ancient vehicles will be on display in the parking lot at the rear of Consumer's Discount Grocery store (just above the carnival area) in Greenbelt.

Used Books

Contributions of used books are still needed for the Greenbelt North End Elementary School P.T.A. booth in the 1972 Labor Day Festival. The books may be deposited in marked boxes at Springhill Lake Drug Store, Twin Pines Savings and Loan or Co-op Supermarket.

Members of North End P.T.A. will be contacted during the next week to work in the booth. Volunteers may call Theresa Crowley, 345-9465, to request a specific 2-hour period. Sixth grade students are invited to help along with their parents.

New Marching Trail

A national historical marching trail laid out and developed by William Aleshire, a Greenbelt Scout Commissioner, will be officially opened on Sunday, August 27 at 2 p.m. at Fort Lincoln Cemetery. Some 400 area Boy Scouts will participate.

A wreath-laying ceremony will also take place at the cemetery, site of the Battle of Bladensburg.

Special Tax Office

Special office to handle questions on real estate tax bills has been set up by the Prince Georges Assessments Office in the County Courthouse, Upper Marlboro. Residents with questions concerning their bills may call the special staff on 627-3000, exts. 318, 319, 320 and 321.

All profits will be turned over to the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America. In case of rain, come on in.

Greenbelt students who are scheduled to attend Parkdale Senior High School would not have been affected by the proposed desegregation plan that was unveiled by the staff of the Prince Georges County Board of Education on Monday, August 21. The plan, which called for the reassignment of about 3,000 white and 2,000 black students from 17 of the 18 county high schools, was turned down, however, by the school board in a 4 to 4 vote. The county school system is presently 22% black.

Nevertheless, the plan, along with reports on the development of other desegregation plans, will be submitted to the U. S. District Court for consideration as directed by the July 25 order of Federal Judge Frank A. Kaufman. The court has scheduled a hearing on these plans for tomorrow, August 25, in Baltimore, and could impose a plan upon the county.

Under the defeated school board staff plan, the composition of the 10th and 11th grades at Parkdale would have been 1,272 white and 435 black. The present distribution is 1,663 white and 67 black. In any event, 12th grade students would have remained at the schools where they were enrolled last year. As the result of the shift, the total projected enrollment of Parkdale would have dropped slightly from 2,520 to 2,497. There are approximately 30,000 senior high school students in the county.

The realignment of school attendance areas would have resulted in all senior high schools being within a range of 9.1% and 28.1% black. At Parkdale, the percentage of blacks would have been around 20%.

Under the plan, Parkdale would have lost 288 pupils to Largo Senior High, 196 pupils to Fairmount Heights Senior High, and 237 pupils to Bladensburg Senior High. Parkdale would have received 394 pupils from Largo Senior High and 304 pupils from High Point Senior High.

According to school board officials, the plan countywide would hardly have affected the proportion of students bused (71%), but would have entailed longer bus rides, especially for black students, in some cases ranging up to 12 miles more, for an average increase in distance of approximately 4.1 miles. As a general rule, the increase of a pupil's travel time each way would not have been more than 12 minutes, staff officials said.

The proposed plan would also have entailed the adjustment of daily schedules in order to provide the required school bus service. In the case of Parkdale, the sessions would have been 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. instead of 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Additional costs would have also been involved because of the additional mileage traveled and because of the additional runs that would have been needed to pick up 12th graders in neighborhoods where 10th and 11th graders were going to other schools.

Courses At SHL

Two non-credit courses, "Wine-Tasting" and "The Making of the President '72," sponsored by the Community Services Office of Prince Georges Community College will be held at Springhill Lake Community Center this fall.

"Wine-Tasting and Enjoyment" which meets on six Monday evenings from 7:30-10:00 PM, will be conducted by Henry Cavalier, Chief Wine Consultant for the Eagle Wine Importers of Georgetown.

On Tuesday evenings, Melvin Friedlander of the History Department of Bowie Senior High, will lead discussions for 8 weeks on "The Making of the President" from 7:30-9:30 PM. There will be a fee for both courses.

Both of these courses are open to all area residents and require no previous college experience. Call 336-6000 Ext. 218 for information.

Questions Motive of Audit

To the Editor:

One of the arguments used to persuade GHI members to sign the petition requesting an "independent financial audit" is that it is needed to determine if the corporation is in a position to finance the recommendations proposed by the structural and management surveys.

The truth is that such an audit will yield no more information on GHI's financial structure, capacity and needs than what is now available to the members and the corporation through the twice-a-year audit that is performed by an outside auditing firm. Having the audit go back 10 years is completely irrelevant to the resolution of current financing problems.

One cannot help but suspect that the real motive of some of those who initiated the petition is to make one more attempt to convict the board and staff of "malfeasance and personal dishonesty." Cresap, McCormick and Paget, in its management survey, reported it had investigated several such allegations and found "no tangible evidence to support them."

Could there be any other result?

Consider this: in the "at least 10 years" it is suggested the audit cover more than 25 members served on the GHI board, more than 15 on the Audit Committee. Is it conceivable that they, at least several staff members and a firm of certified public accountants engaged in—or condoned—"Malfeasance and personal dishonesty"?

Apparently it is to some. This is shown by the repeated use of the word "independent" to qualify "financial audit" and "auditing firm"—three times in the petition and covering letter and repeatedly at the August 10 board meeting. More to the point, some of those who circulated the petition were indiscreet enough to repeat the malicious tales concerning the board and staff that were communicated to Cresap, McCormick and Paget.

Speaking selfishly, I should welcome such an audit. Its results obviously would be personally rewarding. The advisability of burdening members with its cost is questionable, however.

Charles F. Schwan

Wants "In-Depth" Audit

To the Editor:

An Open Letter to the GHI Signers and Other Interested Members of the In-Depth Financial Audit Petition Dated 7/27/72.

In reference to the recently published letters from Miss Janet James, GHI Board Member, and Mr. S. Polaschik, Ex-GHI Board Member, categorically emphasizing no need for any further audits of our corporation, perhaps further clarification of what an in-depth financial audit should contain is hereby presented.

We want from the Certified Public Accounting Firm hired (excluding the present auditing firm of Oehmann & Co.) among other things, a cash audit, a thorough examination of the allocation of monies, and an examination of all assets, financial records and statements for the past ten years.

It is absolutely essential before our mortgage is paid up in approximately five years and any recommendations by the CMP and TAA Reports are implemented that this in-depth financial audit be performed now.

We should not tolerate any further delay by the GHI Board regarding this important matter. The time has passed for the formation of any more committees on this matter or repeating of the same unanswered financial questions.

Vincent Caruso

No Accounting for 20 Yrs.?

To the Editor:

It must seem a tiresome and repetitive statement to many, my saying that our semiannual audit ordered by our bylaws is not a comprehensive financial audit.

Two years ago I alerted Mr. Paul Beck, of J. Henry Oehmann and Co., to obvious discrepancies, in my opinion, in the Members' Annual Report. He seemed more amused than surprised, but gave me no explanation.

Cresap, McCormick & Paget, Inc. (selected by Mr. Schwan, I was told, and represented by Messrs. Knapp and Hayman) were shown, by me, a steady pattern of increases, unexplained loans, and the allocation of member monies for investment.

It is a sad and frightening commentary on the ethics of the accounting profession when many regard these differences as common practices.

Mr. Knapp's plea to forget the past and look towards the future (T.A.A. 7 1/2 million dollar loan?) would be laughable, if it were not that GHI Co-op homes (1579) could be the pawn.

The members have demanded a comprehensive financial audit by an accredited firm. It is later than you think. Even Mr. Oehmann stated the necessity of an accounting every 5 to 10 years. We have had none for 20 years. As for who should pay for same, let me remind Miss James that the members did not ask for a structural survey. We had all that information since 1967 spelled out for us, excluding the package deal T.A.A. would like to sell.

As for the monies to pay for same, we could start with the over $10,000 saving on trash collection budgeted at $75,274 instead of $65,052 (consolidated of GHI, T.H. and GDC). There was no increase this year.

Martha Hutzler

Unfounded Festival Rumor

To the Editor:

A very strange and far fetched Labor Day Festival rumor is being spread that the Festival Committee receives some type of remuneration for their efforts.

This is absolutely untrue, impossible, and unrealistic.

First of all, these are volunteer positions manned by people with a tremendous civic pride and dedication who give of their services free of charge. Many are deeply offended and hurt when they hear such statements.

Secondly, the Festival receipts are very nominal and any assets (very small) accrued are carried over to the following year to keep the Festival solvent, so preliminary expenses can be satisfied.

The Festival has a budget of $4,000 for this year which includes such things as $900 for the parade, $600 for the carnival area and $700 for special events, etc. Groups participating earn approximately $5,000 net.

Finally, after the Festival, the books are audited and the figures are published in the News Review.

Queen Contest is Demeaning

To the Editor:

The Northern Prince George's County Chapter of the National Organization for Women was most disappointed to learn of the decision to continue holding a Festival Queen Contest as a part of the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival.

We do not feel such a contest is merely innocuous or superficial. Placing the physical beauty and charm of adolescent girls before the recognition of any other individual talents helps to perpetuate the stereotype of women as being, first and foremost, decorative. In the long run of history, this stereotyping has denied women the opportunity to develop their talents, to be treated fairly in employment, and to have full legal rights as persons.

The purposes of the Festival Queen contest have been questioned in the past, and it has been suggested, by several civic groups, that the honoring of an outstanding Greenbelt citizen, rather than the selection of a Queen, would be more in keeping with the actual purposes of the Labor Day Festival. We agree!

If, instead, the Festival is committed to honoring adolescence, then we, as an organization devoted to the achieving of full equality between the sexes, suggest that a King also be selected. Using similar judging criteria, the King should be in late adolescence, have a good complexion, regular features, be well muscled and have shoulders broader than hips, be able to sing or dance well, and have a brilliant smile. This suggested criteria, though given with tongue in cheek, should serve to highlight the fact that contests such as this are ultimately demeaning to both sexes.

City Scolded

To the Editor:

A little over a year ago, the city council of Greenbelt entered into an agreement with the developers of Greenbriar (a large apartment development planned for land just east of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway on Greenbelt Road). The agreement was essentially that in exchange for city approval of the developer's special exception zoning request the developer would provide the city with a letter of credit amounting to $95,000, a figure representing a price for 5 acres of undeveloped land adjoining the development.

In preparing for its upcoming court case appealing the special exception, the Save Our Community Committee and their attorney in the case discovered that the letter of credit issued pursuant to the agreement with the city had expired on Aug. 9, 1972 — one year after the date of the agreement.

Councilmember Rhea Cohen was present at the preparation meeting and immediately took action to determine whether the letter of credit was lapsed or renewable. Hopefully, the City of Greenbelt's interest in this matter can be protected, but it seems Greenbelt never learns a lesson when it comes to dealing with developers. I am reminded of past agreements which turned out to be worthless and of instances where the city was thrown out of court because the time in which they must assert their rights had lapsed.

Our city solicitor should have had a red flag on the expiration date of this agreement. Our city manager should have kept himself and council alert and informed about Greenbelt's interests.

As for the Save Our Community Committee, we will just continue opposing this development. Maybe one of these days the city will join us.

Regrets Festival Action

To the Editor:

The Greenbelt Lions Club deeply regrets the action of the Labor Day Festival Committee in declining the offer of the Lions Club to sponsor the bicycle-tricycle parade this year. The Lions Club has managed this event for the past six years and it has always been very successful and pleasurable.

Although it is too late to change the plans for this year, the Lions Club sincerely hopes that their offer to sponsor this event will be accepted in future years.

Taxicab Fares Raised

Effective August 7 taxicab fares in Prince Georges County were increased for the first time in four years.

A single passenger fare for one mile within the county, currently set at 60 cents, were increased to 80 cents. For succeeding miles the fare rose from 50 cents to 60 cents. Additional passengers will be carried within the county for 20 cents, and an additional 50 cents outside the county. The increases were authorized in an emergency bill approved by the county council June 6 and signed into law by county executive William W. Gullett, June 23.

The bill also establishes new rates for carrying pets or luggage in excess of two standard pieces. Waiting time, and time travelled at less than 7 miles per hour will be charged at an additional 10 cents per minute under the new law.

Women on Women In Pr. Geo. County

Five of those who served on Prince Georges County 11-woman Ad Hoc Committee to Study the Status of Women are residents of Greenbelt. They are: Kathleen Block, sociology instructor at the University of Maryland; Nan Furioso, staff member of Montgomery County's budget office, who coordinated the committee's reports; Vicki Lathom, federal employee and NOW activist; County Police Sgt. Carol Polley; and Beverly Stone, an attorney.

This committee recently presented its report to the county council and recommended that a permanent Commission on Women be established to help implement its 100 recommendations. This Commission would develop an information office for women to acquaint them with county services, investigate discriminatory conditions and provide educational programs.

In more than two months of study, hearings, telephone surveys, questionnaires and interviews, the Committee found discrimination against women in all areas - employment, education, housing, day care, medical services, assistance to the poor, and legal status. As a result the Committee also requested legislation coupled with enforcement to further implement women's rights.

County Councilor Gladys Spellman, who worked closely with the Committee, is preparing some of the Committee's recommendations as legislation to present to the county council.

CITY NOTES

A letter to the property owner of the Charlestowne Village development, Reiner, Lerner, Ammerman trustees, has been drafted by the city requesting cleanup of an area beyond the fence on the western side of the property. This area has been used by individual tenants, city officials believe, as a dumping ground for bulky discarded items such as children's plastic play pools, rugs, and automobile seats.

The letter informs the property owner of the city's vacant lot ordinance, passed last spring by council, which empowers the city, after due notice, to clean up private land which has become an eyesore and to charge the owner for the cost of cleanup.

A similar letter received a prompt response earlier this summer from the owner of the apartments on the east side of Parkway Rd. when land behind those buildings, along Crescent Rd., received a thorough cleanup. GHI, similarly, responded promptly to a city notice concerning an area used for dumping by some GHI residents.

The Parks crew have repainted the benches in the shopping center mall. They also cleaned out weeds and debris from the shrubbery bed on city-owned land between the underpass and the library.

Three new dispatchers have recently been hired by the Police Dept. They are Marianne Pearch and Linda Keer, both Greenbelt residents, and Martin Erb, a resident of Mount Rainier.

The Public Works Dept. has been repairing a bridge across the stream at the end of Fayette Pl. This has required concrete work to replace a wall, or wing of the bridge which supports the bank.

The Parks crew, less occupied with grass cutting as drier weather has set in, has been working on the ballfield in Springhill Lake. The crew has also installed and painted barricade posts in city parks and cleaned up underbrush along roadsides.

Kenilworth Intersection Study to Begin in 1973

The office of the city manager has recently received a copy of the approved Five-Year State Highway Improvement Program (1973-77) for the area near Greenbelt.

Of most concern to this city is the decision to move forward to 1973 the preliminary engineering study, originally scheduled for 1976, for rebuilding the Kenilworth-Greenbelt Rd. intersection. Twenty thousand dollars has been earmarked for this purpose.

Another $10,000 has also been committed for preliminary engineering studies in 1973 for the extension of Kenilworth Ave. from the Beltway to an intersection with U.S. 1 north of Powdermill Rd. The proposed extension will roughly parallel the present Edmonston Rd. on its west.

Still a third preliminary engineering study scheduled for 1973 deals with the extension of Md. 193 (Greenbelt Rd.) as a four-lane highway from near DuVal High School to Md. 556. The new route will by-pass the Glendale Sanitarium. Construction funds for this extension are committed for 1974.

1975 is the target date for reconstruction of the bridge on U.S. 1 over Paint Branch. Funds for land acquisition and preliminary engineering study are designated for 1974.

Also included in the plan is the reconstruction as a four-lane highway of Powdermill Rd. from Edmonston to U.S. 1. A federal aid access road, Powdermill will also be widened west of U.S. 1 to its intersection with I-95. The preliminary engineering study will be funded in 1974 and the right-of-way acquisition and construction in 1976.
